

Figure 3. Habitat photographs of the four collection sites at Fakahatchee Strand Preserve State Park. First row: site 1, showing royal palm canopy and understory with bald cypress. Second row: site 2, showing side road along old tram with dense vegetation and aspect of understory with bromeliads. Third row: site 3, showing open bald cypress prairie hammock and dense regrowth. Fourth row: site 4, showing closed bald cypress forest and aspect of forest understory. Photographs by R. Lücking (A, B, G), Matthew Nelsen (D, E, H), Frederick Seavey (F), and Jean Seavey (C).

From on-line supplemental materials to:

Lücking, R., et al. 2011. The lichens of Fakahatchee Strand Preserve State Park, Florida: Proceedings from the 18th Tuckerman Workshop. Bulletin of the Florida Museum of Natural History 49(4):127–186.